Instructions for Navigating the Dashboard Game

Starting the game

On the main screen, click play to launch the next screen.
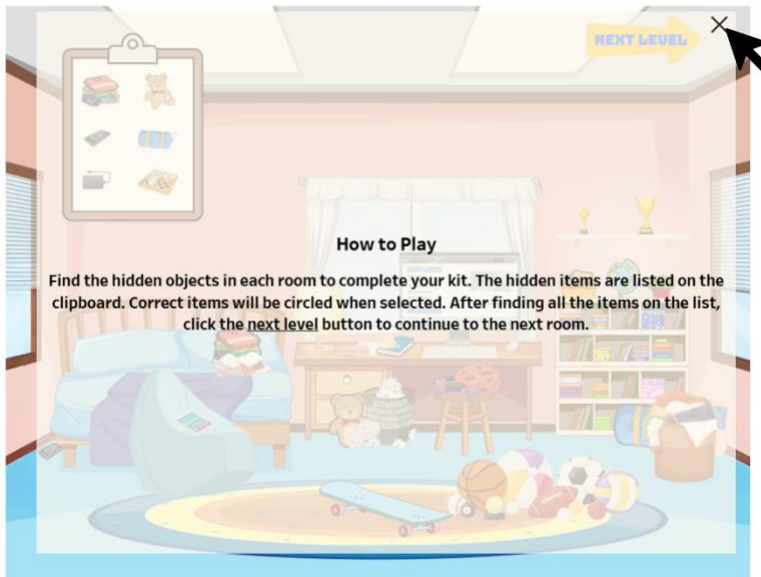

After reading the scenario click the start button to begin.

Game Play

Instructions

To close the open instructions, press the 'X' in the right-hand corner. To reopen the instructions, click the "I" icon in the right-hand corner.

How to Play

Find the hidden objects in each room to complete your kit. The hidden items are listed on the clipboard. Correct items will be circled when selected. After finding all the items on the list, click the next level button to continue to the next room.

Click items listed on the clipboard. Correct items will be circled. After selecting all the items listed, click next level.

You should bring at least two gallons of water per person per day for at least three days. One gallon is for drinking and the other is for santitation.
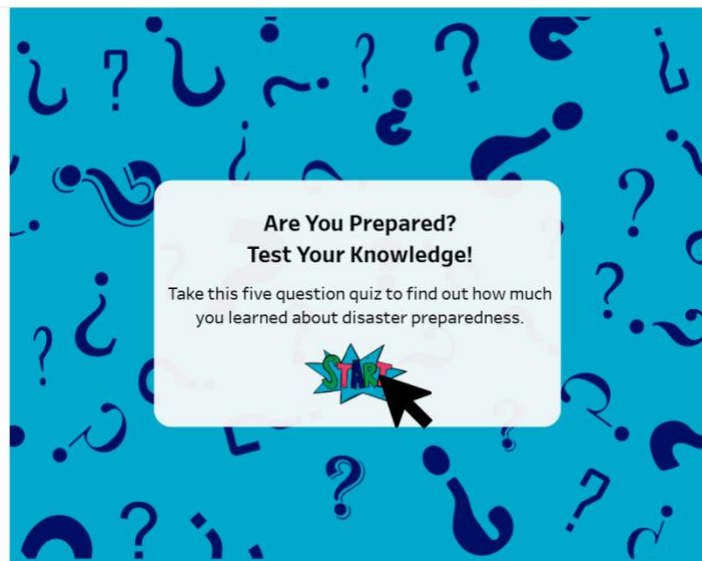

After finding the items on all 4 levels, click the done button.

Quiz Page

Click the start button to begin the quiz.

To see hints click the lightbulb icon in the upper right-hand corner. The quiz score is displayed in the upper left-hand corner.

Double-click your answers. If the correct answer is selected, the next/finish button will appear.

Resources

After completing the quiz, you can navigate available resources. Click the 'Resources' button in the lower right-hand button.

Click on the agency name to be redirected to their webpages for more information.

Resources

South Carolina Emergency Managment Division (SCEMD)

The South Carolina Emergency Management Division (SCEMD) is the agency responsible for emergency management in South Carolina. SCEMD develops, coordinates, and leads the state emergencey management program. Visit their website for important information such as closings & delays, emergency shelters and how to make a plan for emergencies.

Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA)

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is a federal agency responsible for ensuring America is equipped to prepare for respond to, and recover from disasters. There are 10 FEMA regions throughout the United States and the territories. South Carolina is in FEMA region 4 for the Southeast.

Ready.gov

Ready.gov is an official website of the United States Department of Homeland Security. Ready was developed as a public service campaign to educate and empower Americans to be ready to prepare, respond and mitigate emergencies and disasters. It provides resources to help promote disaster and emergency preparedness for all different age groups and abilities. Their resources are available in English and Spanish.

American Red Cross

The American Red Cross nonprofit organization with a goal of preventing and relieving suffering. The Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides comfort to people affected by disasters; supplies about 40% of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; distributes international humanitarian aid; and supports veterans, military members and their families.*

Home

After reviewing the resources, click the 'home' icon to return the main game page.